Woman Left Fortune, Being Sought

Mrs Godfrey Carlson is instituting a search for Mrs Cecil Foster who, if she can be found, will inherit an estate of $150,000.

According to Mrs Carlson, Mrs Foster left Didsbury about twenty years ago, following her marriage, and is understood to have lived in several Alberta towns since then.

Mrs Carlson was due to receive $9,000, she stated, but the estate cannot be distributed until Mrs. Foster is accounted for.

Solicitors in England wrote that failure to locate Mrs Foster might result in the estate being taken over by the Crown in March.

Paying Out Fair Prize Money

The secretary of the Agricultural Society, C. E. Reiber, informs us that the grant towards the fair held last summer has been received and that the prize money can now be paid out. The cheques are all made out and prize-winners can receive same by calling at the office of the secretary.

The amount to be paid out will be one-sixth of the prize money offered in the prize list.

Trees Available For Farmers

In connection with the statement of the Alberta Government published in October regarding certain types of trees being available to farmers for transplanting, it was learned in an interview given on December 8th by Hon. C. C. Ross, minister of lands and mines, that a large number of Lodgepole Pine, and to a lesser extent Scotch Pine, are still procurable from the Forestry division of the Department. As a result, applications for these two species for transplanting next spring will continue to be received up to the 31st of January, 1937.

The stock referred to is stated to be large and healthy. It is available only for additions and replacements in windbreaks and natural bluffs. Application forms are obtainable from the Director of Forestry, Dept. of Lands and Mines, Edmonton.

Obituary.

MRS. JENNIE E WALMSLEY

Mrs. Jennie E. Walmsley, aged 69, passed away at the Didsbury Hospital on Sunday, December 13th after a long illness.

Jennie E. Snyder was born at Benton Harbor, Michigan, on Sept. 8, 1867. As a small child, she moved with her parents to Illinois. In 1885 she was married to Isaac Herner of Cullom, Illinois. To this marriage were born five children, three daughters and two sons.

The family moved to Minnesota and in 1902 came to Canada, settling west of Carstairs among the early pioneers. In the year of 1907 Mr. Herner died. In 1908 she was married to James Walmsley of Yates Center, Kansas. Two children were born, one dying in infancy.

She leaves to mourn her loss: three sons, Samuel Herner of Denver, Colorado; John Herner of Garfield, Alberta, Lawrence Walmsley, of Cremona, Alberta, and one daughter, Mrs. E. Goudie, of Didsbury, Alberta, seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. Also surviving are her aged mother at Plymouth, Indiana, one sister, six brothers and many other relatives. Of late years she had resided near Gafield.

The funeral took place Wednesday, December 16th at 2 p.m. in the M.B.C. Church at Didsbury and burial at the West Zion Mennonite Cemetery. Services were conducted by Rev. C. J. Hallman, assisted by Rev. H. Traub. Arrangements were in charge of Durrer's Funeral Home.

Curling Notes.

The first official event was the President-Vice-President competition played Monday and Tuesday evening.

Monday evening the games were very close, with the vice-president's side leading by 3 points, but on Tuesday evening the vice-president's side scored heavily and took a big lead, finishing with 20 points to the good.

I.O.D.E. Arrange for Xmas Cheer

Arrangements for the distribution of Christmas Cheer were made at the meeting of the I.O.D.E. held at the home of Mrs. C. R. Ford on Monday evening. It was decided to make a donation of $10.00 to the local Red Cross.

Following the business meeting a Christmas Tree and "children's party" was held. Members shook off a few years for the occasion, and the "Xmas entertainment" was hilariously enjoyed.

Massed Band Concert.

Didsbury Boys Band journeyed to Olds on Sunday evening to unite with the Olds Elks Band in a massed band concert sponsored by the Olds United Church in the Arena.

The program included overtures, marches and the hymn, "Abide With Me." Several solos and anthems were rendered by the United Church Choir of Olds. After the concert a lunch was served in the church basement.

Didsbury Boys Band showed a neighbourly spirit in supporting a worthy cause of this nature.

The Prospect Of War

If it were not for the tragic potentialities involved, the conflicting reports on the kaleidoscopic European situation and the daily prognostications of authorities, and others without authority, as to the eventual outcome of international misunderstandings and disputes, would be entertaining and amusing.

Unfortunately so much is at stake for the whole world and the possible consequences of the ever-shifting misunderstandings among the European nationalities are so fraught with risk that one cannot afford, even at this distance, to treat the subject with levity, or even to contemplate conditions overseas with complacency.

Both visitors to this continent from European countries and Canadians and Americans who have returned home from a visit on the other side of the Atlantic, appear to be quite ready to voice freely their opinions on the causes and trends of international difficulties and even to predict the outcome. Many go even further and venture to assert with confidence the approximate time when these quarrels are to culminate in open conflict and general conflagration.

The opinions which these people convey might at least be informative and their prophecies might have some value, if it were not for the fact that no two of them agree, and readers and listeners who are sufficiently interested to absorb everything that is printed or spoken on the subject, must be befuddled in their efforts to straighten out the tangles of conflicting impressions left on their minds.

With or without data to support their theories, these prophets announce that there will be no general European war, that there will be a war some time, that there will be a war within six months, that there is no possibility of an outbreak within the next year but that it is inevitable within the next eighteen months. Some of these prophecies are couched in commanding and authoritative terms with a degree of positiveness that brooks no hedging. Others are conditioned by "ifs", "unless", "perhaps" and "most probably".

Further than that, many of those who are sponsoring an outbreak in the comparatively near future are quite ready to, and do, announce what the line-up will be, and why, and who is going to start the trouble that everyone shudders to contemplate. Here again there is so much conflict of opinion that even if the student is prepared to accept the theory, he will be a war, he is nonplussed when it comes to an effort to diagnose the cause, or to group the opposing nations.

That there is a conflict of opinion on this absorbing topic is not surprising when one considers that the social, political and economic affairs of the majority of the nations on the other side of the water are in a state of flux, and that national viewpoints are changing with such rapidity that it is not only difficult to follow them at long range, but this difficulty is accentuated by the almost impossibility of sifting out facts from propaganda.

However, from this welter of conflicting opinion and mass of tinged information a few truths have emerged. One of these is that most of the talk about a European war is being freely ventilated on this side of the Atlantic while very little is being said or published on the subject in the European countries themselves.

It cannot be gainsaid, however, that if the peoples of Europe are not talking very much about or predicting war they are at least making very active preparations for it, if it should come. Practically every country from the smallest to the largest is strengthening its defences and is reinforcing all branches of its military services. None of them proposes to be caught napping, it would seem.

And back of all this activity lies the germ which has caused the fever and which can be variously labelled—suspicion, mistrust, fear—precisely the same germ which has done so much to retard economic recovery from the general world depression.

For all close observers must have come to the conclusion that every country in Europe is afraid of its neighbors. Each is afraid that one of the others may start something which cannot be stopped and that the innocent may be drawn into the maelstrom that is likely to ensue. Each is suspicious of the actions of the others and each mistrusts the others' motives.

There is also reason to believe that the rank and file of the common people of most, if not all, the countries across the ocean are not anxious for war, but, on the contrary do not want it and would be prepared to go a long way to avoid it. Hence, we have the incongruous spectacle of peoples who would like to devote their energies to commercial progress and who dislike war bending their efforts to the perfection of costly and efficient machinery of destruction, because of fear.

Until this attitude of distrust, suspicion and fear can be dissipated there can be little hope of the European situation improving and this is a task which might well be undertaken by a remodelled and rejuvenated League of Nations.

Recovery In Canada

Report Says United States Lags Behind In This Respect

American businessmen were advised by Colonel L. P. Ayres, business statistician and vice-president of the Cleveland Trust Company, to compare United States recovery with that of Canada.

In the four years since 1932, he said in the bank's business bulletin, "Canada has regained 97 per cent. of the depression losses, while this country has regained 70 per cent. of them."

The United States, he said, is in a recovery movement "which promises to continue for many months to come. The chief significance the recent elections have for business is that they show that the American people firmly desire to have their government actively participate in their economic problems."

After discussing this factor at some length Col. Ayres concluded:

"We should be asking ourselves how it is that Canadian business has been able to accomplish an almost complete recovery, and to do it in the main by old-fashioned, undramatic methods of self-reliance and local initiative."

Considering New Coin

To Replace England's Threepenny Piece Which Is Unpopular

A nickel coin, valued threepence, may be introduced into the new Edward VIII. coinage. It is being considered by the Bank of England and the Royal Mint. The change, if it takes place, will bring Great Britain into line with most other countries and would mean a big reduction in the number of coppers in circulation. The present threepenny piece is unpopular. The new nickel would be about the same size as a sixpenny piece.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The Liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If the bile is not flowing freely you feel bad. It just decays in the bile. Gas blocks up the bile. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills. They are made of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25¢.

Long-Lost Textile Discovered

Thread Known As Bissus Yields Fabric Similar To Wool

A textile fibre dating back to biblical times, whose manufacturing secret had been lost through the ages has been rediscovered by an Italian school teacher.

The ancient thread, known as "bissus" is extracted from a tiny shellfish, the "Pinna Nobilis". According to Miss Rita Del Bene, the discoverer, bissus yields a fabric similar to wool by means of a simple chemical process.

The ancients, however, wove a silk-like fabric from the marinemollusk which though more beautiful was not as strong as the "fish wool" produced by the school teacher.

To Mark Coronation

Memorial To Be Erected In Capital Of Malay States

What is claimed to be the empire's first memorial to mark the coronation is being erected in the market place at Kuala Lumpur, capital of the Federated Malay States.

It takes the form of an ornamental tower 30 feet high and 11 feet wide, and surmounts an electrical substation. At the summit of the tower will be a four-faced electric clock.

Under the clock will be a bronze plate with an inscription commemorating the crowning of King Edward VIII.

Animals of the deer family, such as elk, moose, and reindeer, have antlers, and shed them regularly. Cattle, buffalo, and antelope have horns.

Another Reform In India

Old Law Against Untouchables Abolished In One State

Untouchables in the native state of Travancore, in southern India, rejoiced at the abolition of the age-old discrimination against their caste which prevented them from worshipping in state temples.

In a proclamation on his 25th birthday, the Maharajah of Travancore threw open all state temples to all classes of Hindus without caste distinction.

The proclamation decreed:

"Henceforth there shall be no restriction placed on any Hindu by birth or religion from entering or worshipping at temples controlled by the Travancore government."

The prohibition against worshiping in the temple with the higher castes is one of the worst indignities suffered by the depressed Hindu castes, and has engaged the efforts of Indian reformers for many years. The cause of the untouchables was championed by Gandhi.

Travancore has a population of about 5,000,000. It is hoped the Maharajah's decree will have a wide influence in India and especially in neighboring Cochin and the nearby large state of Mysore.

The Hon. Sir C. P. Ramaswami Aiyar, a noted Indian political leader, said the young Maharajah's emancipation of the untouchables "marks a unique occasion in the history of India, especially in Hinduism."

Self-Serve Barber Shop

Customers In Russia Can Shave Themselves For Nominal Sum

Moscow, Russia, has opened a self-service barber shop as an experiment. In quarters formerly occupied by an old-style barbershop comfortable chairs have been lined up before washstands and long mirrors. Customers are invited to sit and shave themselves for a nominal sum. The only barber present is Nini Savellyeva who is called an "instructor." Her duties require her to see to it that patrons wash their hands before shaving and receive the necessary supplies, and to act as instructor to the inexperienced.

France has a new small car "that goes like sixty." It makes sixty miles an hour, travels sixty miles on a gallon of gasoline and costs $660.

Prohibition enforcement cost the United States almost $1,000,000 monthly.

Old Ceremony Observed

London's Lord Mayor Elect Exchanged Toast With Chief Justice

Traditional ceremony indicated the King's approval of the election of Sir George Broadbridge as lord mayor-elect of the city of London, the ceremony taking place in the Prince's chamber of the House of Lords. The King's approval was conveyed to Sir George and city dignitaries and to judges presented by the lord chief justice, Lord Hewart.

Two attendants in knee-breeches brought in two great silver goblets, to which were attached sprigs of lilies of the valley on either side of the lips. From them hung long festoons of white silk. One was presented to Lord Hewart and the second to Sir George. The lord chief justice took a step forward and raised his goblet, "To the lord mayor-elect."

The cups were ceremoniously exchanged, and Sir George, in his turn, took a pace forward and drank, "To the lord chief justice of England." Afterwards the goblets were passed round and everyone drank to the new lord mayor.

Possibilities Of Radio In Bringing Closer Together The Vast Sections of Canada

There are Norths besides our own North which think they are fair places in which to live, and by broadcasting the felicities they enjoy they break the imagined deep silences of their linked seasons of long days and of long nights. There is the North of Europe, which maintains 17,000,000 people. These nations are constitutionally comprised within the kingdoms of Sweden, Norway, and Denmark and Iceland, and the republic of Finland. And recently they celebrated the "Day of the North" by putting on a broadcast, during which each of the Kings and the President addressed the scattered hearers in the Northland.

The idea of this broadcast probably was taken from Major Gladstone Murray's organized British Empire broadcasts. The broadcast served its purpose to strengthen the spirit of co-operation with which the northern countries in Europe wish to fortify their position and cement their cohesion. Its voices, certainly, were reserved to those of potentates, while Major Murray added to the voice of the British Monarch the voices of persons of low as well as of high estate, the voices of shepherds getting a hearing with those of prime ministers.

These European "Cousins of the North" conveyed to a listening continent a simple though impressive estimate of themselves, based, obviously, on a harmonious content in a domestic security. Perhaps similar aspects pertaining to our own Northland might, with delight and profit, be broadcast by our brothers in the North to outsiders still detained in "civilization." Much that could be told is unknown. Little of life as it is lived beyond the fringe of the more settled regions is comprehended. Only its harshest detractions are either known or imagined, and the amenities it enjoys and the comforts it has acquired are scarcely credited.

Major Murray might, now that his genius for organizing broadcast programmes is to be exercised in Canada, play with the suggestion of broadcasting a cross-section of life in one portion of Canada for the intelligent delight of listeners in other other portions. Each knows about the other geographically, but each is not always familiar with the spirit and the culture, the customs and the means, of the other. And the whole of Canada, or the whole of the more thickly settled sections beyond whose fringe lies the Northland, would find delight and instruction if it could listen-in to a broadcast by our Brothers of the North. We might be surprised—we should be surprised—by what they might tell us of the compensations they find in life as it may be lived in this day, which is the "Day of the North."—Winnipeg Free Press.

Romans Manufactured Cloth

Evidence Has Been Unearthed Among Ruins In England

Discoveries among the ruins unearthed near Rudston in Yorkshire, England, lead experts to believe that the Romans had a woollen mill there. Evidently it was a flourishing sheep and farming district in those ancient times. There is evidence that a thousand years before Yorkshire's mills began to turn out some of the best woollen cloth in the world the Romans were manufacturing cloth in the district, and perhaps sending it to Rome to be made into togas. The recent discovery follows a number of interesting finds at Rudston that began to be made more than a year ago. The first discovery brought to light on a hillside the ruins of a villa that had a central heating plant and splendid mosaic floors.

A retailer, on receiving the first delivery of a large order, was annoyed to find the goods not up to sample. "Cancel my order immediately," he wired to the manufacturers.

They replied: "Regret can not cancel immediately. You must take your turn."

Keeps Driver Awake

Radio In Car Likely To Prevent Dozing At Wheel

A consumers' research service which offers paid subscribers a periodical guide to buying, refuses to make a comparative test of automobile radios. It advises against installing any radio in any car as it considers it a dangerous distraction on the road.

There are available no figures showing how many wrecked cars contain radio or to what extent radio contributed to their condition or to inattentive driving generally; but the experience of car owners whom one knows seems to point the other way. Radio installations, where they affect driving at all, appear to work against other factors which figure in unsafe driving.

Speeding is a factor in point. Above certain speeds, varying with cars, reception is interfered with by the roar of the motor and wind-stream and by tire static. A driver listening to radio is not hitting 75 or so on the open road out of sheer exuberance. It is the experience of some drivers that radio solves the problem of dozing at the wheel. Every tourist has a prescription for fighting off the trance that settles on him in the last hours of a long haul—chewing gum, smoking and other mechanical sleep chasers. Radio is at least as conducive to wakefulness as conversation.

The position of the consumers' service possibly comes from the old inhibition against talking to the motorman. A motorman dozing on his feet would appreciate being talked to. And motorists who do not travel alone are being talked to in any event—by their passengers or—less personally—by radio if they have one.—Detroit News.

Horses Being Trained

Just One Of Many Preparations For Coronation Next May

The painstaking nature of the preparations being made for the coronation may be judged from the training being given to police horses that will guard the procession to and from the abbey.

Horses naturally shy and kick when they feel anything pressing against their hindquarters. Mounted policemen have to back their horses into crowds that show a tendency to get out of hand and the only way to overcome this tendency is to accustom the horses to backing into suspended swinging dummies until they cease to be alarmed by pressure on their flanks.

At Imber Court, the training quarters of the city's mounted police, special attention is being given to this feature of the training of police horses. There they are being made familiar with the presence of brilliant scarlet uniforms and sandwichmen and being taught to stand still while umbrellas are opened under their noses.

It is foresight of this character that has made the metropolitan police force an example for the world.

The royal horses at Buckingham Palace also are being coached for their duties in connection with the coronation. They are being taken by grooms to the changing of the guard at the palace so that they will be used to the presence of the military, the shouting of orders and the playing of bands.

Another interesting fact is that a horse is being trained at the London zoo to be steady in the presence of camels and elephants because he will be ridden by Lord Linlithgow, the viceroy of India, during the expected coronation ceremonies in that country.—Toronto Star Weekly.

Clever Reporter Is Blind

Bramwell Peck, totally blind, is described by Leslie T. Foy, publisher of the Cache Valley Herald, Utah, as one of the most efficient newspaper reporters known to him. Peck does the work of the ordinary street reporter, but naturally uses the telephone a great deal. He says he thinks he can remember every telephone number he ever had occasion to call up.

Eighty Years Ago

Some Rules Employees Of Chicago Firm Had To Observe

We sometimes, though seldom now, talk about the good old days. Most workers, in most industries and stores are to-day working under much better conditions than they did a few years ago. Store clerks for instance used to carry on their task under difficult conditions which have been practically abolished to-day. Recently the Carson, Pirie Scott Co., of Chicago celebrated the 80th anniversary of its founding, and a set of early rules of the company were found. Here they are, and you can judge for yourself whether or not there is more freedom to-day than 80 years ago:

"Store must be open from 6 a.m. until 9 p.m. the entire year around.

"Store must be swept; counters, base shelves and show cases dusted; lamps filled, trimmed and chimneys cleaned; pens made; doors and windows opened; a pail of water and a bucket of coal must be brought up before breakfast, if there is time to do so; and attend to all customers who call. Store must not be opened on the Sabbath unless absolutely necessary, and then only for a few moments.

"The employee who is in the habit of smoking Spanish cigars, and being shaved in the barber shops, or going to dances or other places of amusement will surely give his employer every reason to be suspicious of his integrity and honesty. Each employee must pay not less than $5 per year to the church and must attend Sunday School regularly. Men employees are given one evening each week for courting and two if they go to prayer meeting."

Some of the so-called vices of 80 years ago are fairly commonplace now, except we don't know what Spanish cigars are. The idea of each employee paying at least $5 to the church each year is not such a bad idea to revive, and we doubt whether one night for courting would suit the modern generation.—Bowmanville Statesman.

Proud Of His Job

New Zealand Shepherd Has Worked 74 Years For One Family

The oldest shepherd in New Zealand is proud, but more proud is he of the fact that for 74 years his only employers have been one family. A shepherd on the station of the late Mr. Alexander Sutherland at Lyall Bay, Wellington, at the age of 13—a shepherd on the same man's station at Hinakura, Wairarapa at the age of 25 and still a shepherd for the late Mr. Sutherland's grandson on the same Wairarapa station at the age of 87 is his record.

Doctor: "What did you want to see me about?"

Patient: "Well, I know my heart knocks a bit, my liver's gone back on me, and I'm not proud of my kidneys; but in a general sort of way there isn't much the matter. It's really my corn that worries me."

Taking Gigantic Census To Secure Accommodation For Visitors To Coronation

Produce More Sugar

British Beets Said To Be Sweetest In World

Due to the exhaustive tests made by the chemists at the British National Laboratory in London, the British-grown beet has been made to produce more sugar than foreign beets do, and at Peterborough a plant has just been completed whose product is 450 tons of sugar every 24 hours—the largest amount coming from any factory per diem in the world.

According to the correspondent of the Daily Telegraph of London, no part of the machine can be stopped from the moment it is started until the supply of beet from the farms comes to an end in January. One dare not, as Glyn Mowbray, one of the men who have helped create this great new agricultural industry told the correspondent, stop a sugar factory for fear of fermentation.

From every load of sugar beet a secret 28-pound sample is taken. Chemists test it for the amount of dirt, the extent of "whiskers" and the thoroughness with which they have been "topped" in the field. As a final test chemists take a sample of 26 grams of the pulp and pass it on to men, who, through their lenses in a darkened camera can see at once the sugar content of the load.

Canadians Like To Read

Public Libraries Loaned Over 21,000,000 Books During Last Year

The Canadian likes to settle himself under the light with a good book. A survey of public libraries conducted by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics shows more than 21,000,000 circulation in 1935.

This was carried out at a cost of $2,000,000 or about 18 cents per head of population.

Circulation was slightly lower than at the last biennial survey in 1933, the exact figures being 21,137,902 and 22,376,340. This is attributed to reduced budgets resulting in fewer books and to a lessened number of unemployed readers.

The bureau shows that by spending 38 cents per capita on libraries in the United States, 3.7 books per person are lent there in the year. In Canada with less than half that support, libraries lend two. In Great Britain, however, the figure is 4½.

A continuous increase in non-fiction reading was reported by some of the larger libraries which said the decline was entirely in fiction.

Measured by special apparatus, the speed of a driver when it touches a golf ball is 70 to 125 miles an hour, according to an experiment performed in England.

A gigantic census of all possible accommodation in London, and in towns within 100-miles radius, for coronation visitors next May is being undertaken by the hotels and restaurants association of Great Britain.

This huge survey will remove the fears of people who have thought they will either be unable to get rooms or will have to pay exorbitant prices.

The secretary of the association said: "We invite all proprietors of hotels, licensed and unlicensed, boarding houses, lodges, flats and private houses within the radius of 100 miles to write to the offices of the association, 11 Southampton Row, Strand, giving full particulars of the accommodation available and the terms.

"When we have completed this census in a few weeks, we shall be able to supply all applicants with particulars of where they can stay for the Coronation.

"People who offer rooms at what we consider extravagant charges will not be included in our lists. It is the aim of all members of our association and kindred bodies to prevent profiteering of any kind in rooms for the Coronation.

"Applicants for rooms for one or two nights before and after Coronation Day on May 12, however, stand little chance of obtaining them. The demand is very great and many hotels and boarding houses will accept advance bookings only for a minimum of five days."

So far the association is conducting the census without charge.

No applicant need be afraid of being unable to secure accommodation. In London's most luxurious hotels there will be many official visitors, guests of the Government, for whom accommodation will be provided. These include reigning monarchs, and their suites, and ministers and officials who will be arriving for the Imperial Conference, which is almost coincident with the Coronation.

For these guests the association has been informed that the Government will require for a considerable time 900 bedrooms. These will be allocated on a quota basis among London's best hotels. The hotels generally rated as first-class in London number 27, and provide among them 12,000 bedrooms.

There are, according to the association, whose president is G. Reeves-Smith of the Savoy Hotel, a further 5,000 good hotels in London, providing 250,000 rooms, and the smaller hotels and boarding-houses which normally offer another 250,000 rooms.

Additional accommodation at seaside resorts and other towns within quick travelling distance of London could, it is calculated, easily provide for at least another 1,000,000 visitors.

Start Work Early

Some Stage Players Begin Career When Quite Young

There is a simple reason why retired stars of theatre and sport produce such a startling effect of antiquity when they emerge for a moment in the public eye or leave this earthly scene forever. It is because they begin life so young. A writer or a lawyer must live to be more than 70 if he is to have a career of fifty years. But a stage player may die at 60 and yet have been before the public for half a century. Like the late Mrs. Fiske, a stage player may have "gone on" as an infant in arms.

In sport they do not start quite that early, but in baseball and boxing a man is a veteran at 30. He may have made his debut at 18, enjoyed a full twenty years of glory, and come back after twenty-five years of retirement, a ghost from the past and only a name to the younger generations, at the not very formidable age of 63.

New Zealand's labor government has decided to spend $1,250,000 more on defence.

The World of Wheat.By H. G. LSTRANGE Director "Crop Testing Plan."The price of wheat is governed by the supplies available and as well by the demand for those supplies.It is because we forget "demand" that we are sometimes disappointed when price does not rise as we think it should. Two years ago, for instance, we heard of a serious world shortage of wheat and coarse grains, yet price, to our disappointment, did not rise. Why? Simply because the demand fell off to the same extent as the supplies had become decreased.Happily, now and then, the reverse is the case. We have had a good instance recently.During the past few weeks it became apparent that the crop of the Argentine was larger than expected, so naturally wheat prices began to decline. Suddenly unexpected demands for wheat appeared, so that in spite of the weight of the larger supplies, prices actually rose.As far as can be judged the extra demands came from some countries which are "stocking up" with wheat, either in preparation for war, or because of fear of it.It seems, apparently, that large supplies of wheat are just as necessary to conduct a war as are supplies of copper, nickel, lead, cotton, rubber and oil.Prices have tended to be raised by the following: European countries buying wheat heavily; Fear of war in Europe continues; Private estimates Argentina crop lower than expected; China starts purchasing wheat; Germany purchases Canadian wheat under new trade agreement; Fears that rust epidemic may develop in Western Canada should rains occur next summer heavy enough to overcome present lack of subsoil moisture.Prices have tended to be lowered by the following: Harvesting of wheat now general in Australia; Seeding of Italy's crop proceeding favourably; Rains occur in North Africa; India shipping barley heavily; Argentina and Danubian countries make heavy shipments of maize and rye; Rains benefit newly sown Indian crop.The death has been reported of John Fiddler, who drove the first train from Edmonton to Calgary.
Fiddler died at his home at Boundary Creek and was buried Tuesday of last week. It was Fiddler who, on that memorable run, routed the Indians who were determined to stop the iron horse from its encroachments on their plains. They gathered at Hobema, resplendent in war paint and feathers, and crowded on the track. But Fiddler was equal to them. As the train drew near, he rang the bell, blew the whistle, and let out a blast of steam that sent them scattering. For about thirty years he had railed at Boundary Creek. His widow survives, and a brother, John J. Fiddler of Calgary.At the meeting of the Western Fairs Association held at San Francisco on Friday, the date of the Calgary Stampede was set at July 5th to 10th, 1937.Social Credit Notes.The Didsbury Pioneer S.C. Group held its last meeting at the home of Mrs. Wm. Wessenberg on Monday evening, December 14th.M. Weber, delegate from the group to the annual convention held at Carstairs on December 9th, gave a report of the convention. In his report he stated that a unity of spirit and co-operation was manifested throughout the convention, and that a spirit of determination prevailed in the business dealt with. Three features of note in the report were:
Our group president, M. Weber, was one of the delegates elected to represent the constituency at the district conference to be held in Calgary in the near future; the next annual constituency convention is to be held in Didsbury; the group's president, M. Weber, was elected to the constituency executive as 1st vice-president.Robert Reid, of Cremona, was the guest-speaker of the evening and gave a very inspiring lecture on the subject, "Changes Caused by the Last War and to be Feared by the Next."
Between the business and Mr. Reid's lecture were rendered songs, recitations, reading, and musical selections, followed by the serving of refreshments by the lunch committee.There will be no further meetings until after the Christmas and New Year's holidays, when the group will convene at the home of Chris Rapkin on Monday, January 4th at 8 p.m. All are welcome.

Didsbury No. 1

Monday evening the president and secretary, Mr. and Mrs. A. Schweisinger, were pleasantly entertained by a number of their fellow members. After a very encouraging opening speech by Mr. Albert Peck, games and recitations were enjoyed Mrs. Albert Peck, in behalf of the group members, presented Mr. and Mrs. Schwesinger with a beautiful card table as a token of appreciation of their untiring efforts in behalf of Social Credit. Mr. Schwesinger responded with a few words of heartfelt thanks and assured the group that he would double his efforts. A very delicious Christmas lunch was then served by the ladies and much enjoyed. The party had a most pleasant visit with each other into the wee sma' hours.

Mrs. A. Schwesinger, Sec. Treas.

Usually, the answer is as obvious as the fact that two make four, no matter how you try to get any other total. Is there a substitute for honesty in our friends, our neighbours, our business associates? Would not the very foundations of our everyday life totter without the trust and faith we put in the word of others?

Sometimes, in our haste to attain a certain difficult objective, we may overlook certain factors. Perhaps it is wise then that we should stop now and ask ourselves that simple yet essential question, "Does Honesty Pay?"

An individual certainly makes little progress if he consistently adopts a policy which is not fundamentally honest. Therefore, does it not follow that a group of individuals . . . suffer the same penalty if it adopted a similar policy?

In other words, can two wrongs ever make a right? Can this province afford to pay the penalty of breaking faith with those who accepted our word in good faith? Will the immediate gain be more than wiped out by loss of our individual and collective honesty in the immediate future in the eyes of those to whom we MUST eventually go for financial support?

The answers to these questions concern every man, woman and child in Alberta today. Our future and our children's future is at stake.

Free Trial of Vick Products For Better Control of Colds Offered by Local Druggists

Free Packages Contain Trial Size Vicks Va-tro-nol and Vicks VapoRub, with Details of Plan that Cut Sickness from Colds in Half in Clinic Tests

In your own home this winter, wouldn't you like to see sickness from colds cut more than half? That was just one of the results averaged by thousands of people in clinic tests of Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds—a practical home guide to greater freedom from colds.

The free trial packages now offered by your druggist introduce you to Vicks Plan and the products that make it possible: Vicks Va-tro-nol and Vicks VapoRub.

To Help Prevent Many Colds

Vicks Va-tro-nol is the scientific aid in preventing colds. Vick Chemists spent more than nine years and $250,000 in research, experiments, and tests before perfecting this exclusive Vicks formula.

Va-tro-nol is specially designed for the nose and upper throat, where 3 out of 4 colds start. The moment you apply it—a few drops up each nostril—Va-tro-nol spreads swiftly through this trouble zone, aiding and gently stimulating Nature's defenses.

Used at that first sneeze, sniffle or any sign of nasal irritation—Nature's usual warning that a cold threatens—Va-tro-nol helps to prevent many colds, and to throw off head colds in the early stages.

And when neglected irritation has led to a stuffed-up nose or a miserable head-cold, Va-tro-nol brings comforting relief. It reduces swollen membranes, clears clogging mucus, makes every breath clear and cool again.

You'll find Va-tro-nol wonderfully easy and pleasant to use, at home and at work.

To Help End a Cold Quicker

When a cold strikes without warning or gets by even the best precautions—as some colds always will—Vicks VapoRub helps end it quicker. You simply massage VapoRub on the throat, chest, and back for three minutes. Almost before you finish rubbing, VapoRub starts to bring relief two ways at once: (1) It acts direct through the skin like a poultice or plaster; (2) Its medicated vapors, released by body heat, are breathed in for hours—about 18 times a minute—direct to the irritated air-passages.

This combined poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm, relieves irritation, helps break congestion. While the patient relaxes into comfortable sleep, VapoRub keeps right on working. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

Cough Drops Free, Too

Can Take Their Time

Newspapers In Germany Forbidden To Be First With News

To be first with the news is now "verboten" to Berlin's evening papers, under a new instruction issued by Dr. Goebbels' Press authorities.

Under this order no evening newspaper-vendor may begin to sell the early editions of the papers before 2:30 p.m. Copies of evening papers which arrive too soon must be put under the stand out of sight of customers until the appointed time. News-vendors who disobey this order run the risk of being expelled from the Association into which all news-vendors must be enrolled, and not being allowed to sell newspapers again.

Nazi Press experts frequently boast in speeches that German journalists have no longer to work under the unseemly conditions of speed which characterize the "Jewish foreign Press," and news is printed anything up to 48 hours after it has taken place. ### Dean Of Carvers Retires

Is Considered Greatest Living Expert At The Art

Charlie Brown, known to countless thousands of Americans as chief carver of Simpson's in the Strand, has retired after 58 years of presiding in London as dean of the carving blades.

Since he wielded his knife first in August, 1878, Mr. Brown has known hundreds of celebrated figures, many of whom are almost legendary to this generation.

He is considered the greatest living expert at the art of carving and one of his chief tenets has been that a carver should decorate the plate as an artist plans his canvas. The highest spot in his experiences was in 1913, when he was called upon to carve sirloin of beef for King George and Queen Mary.

Ten years ago he received a handsome offer to go to Philadelphia to perform 20 minutes of work at a large civic dinner, but declined that in addition to several other fabulous offers from the United States.

Tracing a family tree is an expensive business; it will cost as much as $150 to go back two or three hundred years, working on one line alone.

Two Identical Pieces and a Gusset

PATTERN 5676

"What beautiful gloves! And you made them yourself?" Mother, sister or friend is sure to be flattered by so personal a gift. They're so simple to do, too. Here's the secret—crochet each glove lengthwise; whip together the two identical pieces with contrasting yarn (in itself a decoration), and include gussets for that important wrist flare. You'll find these gloves will give the wear of an extra pair, made in either yarn or string. In pattern 5676 you will find directions for making these gloves; an illustration of them and of all stitches used; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 20 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Household Arts Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg.

To Guard Alpine Climbers

Italy is the first country in Europe, perhaps in the world, to install radio-phonics communications between lonely Alpine huts and the nearest towns in the valleys below, in order to make Alpine climbing a safer sport. Fostered by the Italian Alpine committee, the plan provides for installations in more than 40 of the principal chalets in the Italian Alps. In time more than 200 installations will be made.

Life Insurance In Canada

How much more of a stake in life insurance Canadians have than the people of every other country except the United States has just been published. Though the United Kingdom has about four times the Dominion's population, its people carry only about 70 per cent. more insurance than ours. The amount in force in the Dominion is nearly twice as much as in Germany, four times what it is in Australia and five times what it is in France.—Edmonton Journal.

BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS WIPE OUT TUBERCULOSIS

By unremitting efforts in its fight against Tuberculosis, the Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis League has succeeded in reducing the death rate from this disease to one-half of what it was fifteen years ago, and by this great achievement, Saskatchewan now has the distinction of having the lowest death rate of any state or province in the world.

Yet, despite the encouraging progress that has been made, Tuberculosis is still one of the most serious disease problems we have to face. Every third death in the age period between 15 and 45 years from acute infectious disease is due to Tuberculosis.

Therefore, there must be no let-up in the fight against Tuberculosis.

Every citizen can do his or her part by buying Christmas Seals.

Educational and preventive work are very important factors in this never-ending campaign. The money raised by the sale of Christmas Seals is used exclusively for these purposes and made possible the examination of 54,573 persons in the past eight years. Last year 14,403 persons were examined.

The cost of caring for the 750 patients in the three sanatoria of the province is met by taxation.

Funds for educational and preventive work are provided by voluntary contributions.

Early diagnosis of suspected cases is of vital importance. Clinics are held monthly at seven points in the province, where free examination is available to all. Last year the proportion of early cases admitted to the sanatoria was 43 per cent, compared with ten per cent, fifteen years ago. The education of the public as to the symptoms and dangers of Tuberculosis has brought about this result.

The majority of cases discovered in the early stages of the disease recover; their stay in the sanatorium is shorter, and the cost to themselves and the taxpayer correspondingly reduced.

People must learn that Tuberculosis in the early stages is just as curable as pneumonia. In the later stages it is one of the most serious diseases there are. The public must be made intelligently Tuberculosis-conscious. The public must know something about the symptoms. First, loss of strength, loss of weight, fever and later a cough and other more serious symptoms.

Because people know more about the symptoms of Tuberculosis today than they did fifteen years ago, the infection rate among children and young adults has been reduced to one-quarter of what it was then. The fear and apprehension which Tuberculosis once inspired has largely diminished, because people today know that it is not hereditary, and that if discovered and treated in the early stages, it is 80 per cent. curable.

director of medical services and general superintendent of the Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis League. He has been connected with the League since 1917, and is recognized as a world authority on Tuberculosis. Saskatchewan's distinction of having the lowest Tuberculosis death rate in the world is attributed by Dr. Ferguson to the progressive policy of the Board of Directors of the League and the efficient and loyal co-operation of the staff of the three sanatoria.

ly diminished, because people today know that it is not hereditary, and that if discovered and treated in the early stages, it is 80 per cent. curable.

Four thousand people are living in Saskatchewan today who have been treated in our sanatoria, and two-thirds of these have returned to their usual occupations.

What more convincing argument than this could be advanced for support of the Christmas Seal Sale in order that educational and preventive work may be continued and extended? We can, if we will, make Tuberculosis a comparatively rare disease.

One way in which everyone may play a part at this season of the year is to buy and use Christmas Seals. The money you spend on such seals is used to strengthen the forces which protect you and yours against a very real and powerful enemy. To buy seals makes you a participant in the campaign, lining you up with the forces of health and happiness against disease and misery.

Italy Makes Denial

Declare Reports That Law Courts Will Be Abolished Is False

Official denial was made that Premier Mussolini intends to abolish law courts and substitute corporative committees. It was said officially the law courts will not be changed.

Displeasure was expressed in official circles that lawyers in the United States should have interpreted the reported possibility of such a change as indicating freedom of trial was being impaired in Italy.

It was pointed out citizens have and will continue to have rights before the courts equivalent to those of other countries.

There came the sound of sibilant gasps from those nearest. The shuffle of feet stopped on the instant. Starr and Michael, too, were stricken as still as though turned to stone, their arms about each other ready to swing into the dance. In the momentary hush it seemed that everyone else stood still, too, listening. But Stephanie Dale was neither hushed nor silent. In a dramatic, bitter moment she was hurling names at Starr. The kind of names of which only a jealous woman can think.

The whole gay party, their dancing feet stopped for the moment, stood aghast. Almost anything went in their mad set—but not scenes like this.

Stephanie was too angry to care. She had a great deal stored up to say and she was saying it all. Michael's face went from dark red to white. There was pleading in his eyes as he said:

"Stephanie, please!"

She flared out at him, then. "I won't keep quiet! Why should I? I'm beginning to doubt whether your interest in this 'Play-girl'"—she made the name anathema, while her eyes shot venom—"is purely professional, as you insist! How do I know you haven't been her lover, in common with half a dozen other men about town? Probably half the men here this minute? But you can't flaunt her in my face! If you dance with her, Michael, everything is finished between you and me!"

It was a merciless ultimatum. At

Read the experience of this man who had rheumatism so badly that at times he was prevented from working:

"About 10 months ago," he writes, "I suffered terribly with rheumatism and neuritis. The pains were all over my body and some days I could not even get up from bed to go to work. A friend visited me and suggested that I should try Kruschen Salts. I did so, the result being that the pains seemed to gradually disappear. I have been going to work ever since without a break, thanks to Kruschen Salts, and I feel a new man."—A.R.

Rheumatic conditions are frequently the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are notable for their work in dissolving uric acid. Other ingredients assist Nature to expel the dissolved acid from the system.

Stephanie's savage onslaught Starr felt all the life suddenly dashed from her body. Now, unaccountably, her greatest resentment was for Michael. . . . Though why should she care? He deserved—well, about anything. But surely not this public embarrassment. As she recovered herself slightly she turned to look at Michael.

She saw the battle he was waging with himself. He could not afford to quarrel with the girl he wanted to marry, to whom it was generally accepted that he was engaged, and yet how many men would have accepted a rebuke like that in public? It was plain he meant to pay no attention to Stephanie, or anything she said. He held on to Starr defiantly.

Starr wriggled free from his arms. She drawled coolly:

"I'll save Michael the embarrassment of making a decision by sitting this one out. It's little harm for dancing, anyway!"

She walked across the floor alone, toward the long, open windows that led to the high-up balcony that looked down over the city. More than one turned to watch her as the music purred on in the dreamy waltz, marveling at her courage. This was a new phase on the character of "Play-Girl", and there was a touch of reluctant admiration and sympathy even in the women's eyes.

This ballroom at the Mayfair was high up over New York City. The balconies outside its windows looked down so that one could imagine themselves on the crest of a hill, with the lights below twinkling like a sea of stars. Starr looked down on them, but somehow they were all blurred and wavering through a mist that welled to her eyes in spite of herself.

In the distance was caught a glimpse of the glory of the wide river, moon-drenched, turning the craft idling along it into silver boats. But in the light of day they would be dirty hulks, most of them, with no magic of moonlight to touch them. They would not be silver boats, they would be—that was how Starr felt—tarnished.

She stood by the balcony rail, looking down at the lights and at the broad, wide expanse of the black and silver river. Music, muted a little, came from within. The dance was going on as though nothing had happened.

Starr was as surprised to find she was trembling as at the mist that blurred her vision. In spite of her brave front, things like this left their mark. They were bound to. She had not had sufficient experience in life in steeling herself.

She did not know how long she stood there. It made so little difference. Then the figure of a man suddenly appeared, just a dark blur against the wall of the tall building. That would be Lance, of course; he was never very far away. She was surprised that he had not already followed her out.

She moved slightly, glancing from the corner of her eyes. No, not Lance. The figure was too broad and athletic for Lance. Starr's heart gave a queer leap. Michael!

"Starr!"

In the misty darkness the girl's lips twisted. A sibilant little laugh tinkled.

"Be careful, Michael-Hassan. I'm poison ivy!"

His voice came swiftly as he took another eager step nearer.

"I want to apologize for Stephanie, Starr. She had no right to say the things she did."

Starr said dully: "It doesn't matter, does it? She only said what everybody else thinks! If I remember, what you've rather intimated yourself."

He spoke her name again, and in his tone was a world of hurt.

"Starr!"

"Yes, Michael."

"I want to apologize for myself, too, Starr. No man has the right to do any to woman, no matter what his preconceived notions of her, what I did to you. I put you in an impossible position, and then blamed you because you lost your head. It's all my fault; whatever has happened tonight or any other time, is my fault. I didn't realize it until tonight, when I heard Stephanie call you those names, but I knew then, in a terrible moment, Starr, what I had done to you."

A strange tightness caught Starr Ellison's throat. Her barriers were down. She could have matched the supercilious Michael with mocking word for mocking word; she had no weapons with which to fight this new, humble Michael.

He had come closer now, was reaching for her hands with the big strong ones she knew so well. He was trying to look nearer into her face and the pools of her eyes that were hidden in the night blackness. He said impetuously:

"I've been a mad fool, Starr! I began by being attracted that day I saw you on the street, pouring out your passionate little heart in just a few words that meant volumes to Change in the Alberta motor vehicles license year will be made from the calendar year, as it has been in the past, to correspond to the fiscal year, commencing on April 1st and ending March 31st. The new year will be effective as from April 1 next.

All licenses for 1936 will expire December 31st, 1936. There will be a period of three months before the next year commences.

In order to tide motorists who wish to operate their cars over the interim period, the government is providing stickers, obtainable from the motor license branch for a fourth of the cost of the annual license.

Stickers will be placed on the right hand side of the windshield and will bear distinctive number with the name and address of the owner.

For example, say an annual license is $12.00, the motorist will pay $3.00 for the 3 month period
